Words to help your story sparkle

Use these ideas if you get stuck. Borrow any words you like!

A capital letter

A capital letter is important because it stands at the front, like the leader of the line. Names have one too!

Pink Patsy flew a kite.

A full stop

A full stop tells you to stop when you have said enough. Take a little breath, then start your next idea.

The kite flew up high● ← stop here!

A describing word

Describing words tell us what something is like.

fluffy sparkly enormous tiny shiny
muddy bright soft tall

A feeling

How does Pink Patsy feel? How do you feel?

happy excited brave proud scared
surprised cosy sleepy giggly

A sound word

Sound words make your story noisy and fun!

splash! whoosh! crunch! buzz! pop!
drip-drop! tweet! quack! boom!

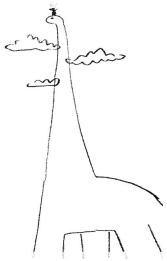
Remember: there's no wrong way to tell a story!

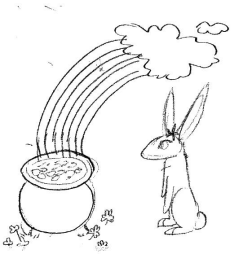
HELP IS HERE!

Don't be shy to get ideas – this will help your imagination!

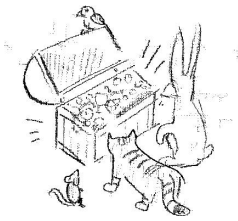


A dinosaur with its head in the clouds

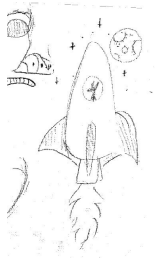
What's in the mystery box?



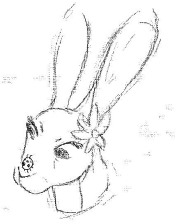
A pot of gold at the end of the rainbow



A treasure chest full of surprises



A rocket ride to the moon



A hare with a flower in her ear

A friendly flying dragon

A sleepy dragon and a curious cat

Copy them, change them or mix them up. It's your story!

Grown-ups: share it in the Story Gallery!

Take a photo of each page and send it with the form on the Story Gallery page at magmaybooks.com. Wendy will turn it into a little book on the website. First names only, please, and no photos of children's faces.
There are no wrong answers here: the stars are for celebrating what they tried.
KS1 (ages 5 to 7): a story with a beginning, middle and end, and drawing ideas.

Pink Patsy's Adventure

Welcome to the world of Pink Patsy, where anything is possible! In this booklet, young children are invited to create their own stories featuring Pink Patsy and a special friend. Will they sail the high seas with Pink Patsy and the pirate on a ship, in search of treasure and adventure? Or perhaps explore the past with Pink Patsy and the dangerous dinosaur. The possibilities are endless!

As children write and illustrate their own tales, they'll develop their confidence and self-expression, experiencing a deep sense of pride in their work.

Get ready for a world of adventure with Pink Patsy and the...
